

NEUROSCIENCE AND COGNITIVE SCIENCE (NSCS) UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH AWARD APPLICATION

SCHOOL OF MIND, BRAIN AND BEHAVIOR

This award intends to help support the research training and career development of students in the Neuroscience and Cognitive Science (NSCS) major. This award encourages students to attend scientific meetings/conferences, to create innovative research projects, and to support other justifiable research-related expenses.

In order to be eligible for this award, students MUST: 1. be formally admitted to the NSCS major; 2. be affiliated with a neuroscience or cognitive science laboratory on campus; and 3. have the approval of his/her faculty sponsor.

This award may fund, but is not limited to, the following: costs associated with scientific meetings (e.g. travel, poster printing, abstracts/registration fees, etc.), research equipment/supplies, funds to initiate a project, other justifiable research-related uses.

Applications will be assessed based on: overall clarity of application, defined objectives, justification for use of funds, feasibility of proposed research, and value to student's training and career development.

Post-Award Requirements: a short-summary (1-page maximum) describing research progress OR experience at a scientific meeting and how it contributed to your career development. Required no later than six months after award has been received.
